Travel Single Image of the Night

“River Thames and Westminster from London Eye” by Doug Arnold

Calendar

As you would expect, due to the California directive to self quarantine, all meetings at the Garden and Arts Center are canceled until further notice.

Our special program with Charlotte Gibb that was scheduled for April 2nd is cancelled. We hope to re-schedule later this year.

We will still have the April General/Creative Competition, but it will not be done in front of an audience.

You will still submit your images as always, except Donna Sturla will be the Acting General Division Director for this meeting. The judge will review the images, score them and comment at his or her home. The judging may or may not occur on April 14 at the judges convenience since no one else will be present. When the judging is done, you will have an opportunity to see a slide show on your home computer with all the images, the judges comments and the scores. So start getting your images ready and you will hear from Donna soon regarding the final date to submit your images. While we know this is not ideal, it is will keep our competitions moving forward until things settle done with the virus. Thanks for your understanding. Many thanks to Doug Arnold for developing this system and helping with its implementation and to Donna Sturla for stepping up to manage this competition. Stay safe. Charlie

The danger of self-isolating from COVID-19 on public lands

Jessica Kutz March 20, 2020

Visitors desperate for activity and distraction have flooded into Moab, Utah, the gateway to Arches National Park. “We had crowds of people that felt like peak summertime,” said Ashley Kumburis, who manages a rafting and jeep tour outfitter that’s still open. “If you didn’t know this contagious virus was spreading, you would think it was a regular summer day in Moab.”

On March 16, doctors from Moab Regional Hospital sent a letter to Gov. Gary Herbert, R, asking for help. “We are writing this letter to implore you to shut down all non-essential business service in Moab,” it reads. Citing a lack of hospital beds and no local intensive care unit — at a time when lodging for the following weekend was estimated to be at between 75-95% capacity — officials were concerned that “tourism would drive the spread” of COVID-19. Within a few hours, the Southeast Utah Health Department issued an order closing restaurants and lodging, and camping on both public and private land to outside visitors.

Sending people to parks means they’ll use the amenities in both the parks and in nearby towns. Grocery stores in the rural West, as in the rest of the country, are struggling to stay stocked, bathroom facilities will need cleaning, and the more visitors there are, the greater chance for injuries that might need to be treated in rural hospitals — hospitals that lack the capacity to treat them.

Lewis Kemper Classes

Webinars on Lightroom. See attachment with Gammagram e-mail. Also private lessons.

Thank you to Mike's Camera for their support of Sierra Camera Club, by printing our SCC Grammagram.

Mike's offer a full line of cameras, equipment and classes. They still sell film and do film processing, printing and framing.

Mike's can be found at mikescamera.com.

Store located at 22nd & J Streets in Sacramento.

We had to temporarily close ALL of our California locations in response to the Coronavirus outbreak, until local authorities allow businesses to safely reopen.

You can still order online for FREE shipping on your equipment purchases as well as order your prints from your mobile device or desktop at www.mcprintlab.com

We will be posting regularly to our Facebook pages ideas to help you during these isolated times and to allow you to communicate with us and ask questions. So if you do not follow up already, now is the time to do so!

Stay safe and we will be open again for you as soon as possible.
