Sierra Camera Club Field Trip Report: Sacramento River From Heather Cline

In late June, nine of the Sierra Camera Club members participated in a field trip with Sacramento River Eco Tours. This trip focused on the wildlife and scenery of the Sacramento River. The boat tour covered roughly 12-14 miles of the river located near Chico in Glenn County. This tour was roughly 2 hours drive from the Sacramento area.

The tour guide, Henry Lomeli, is a seasoned guide on the river and offered a lot of valuable information about the flora and fauna. It is obvious he has a great love for his job and it showed in the quality of information he shared and his ability to find hot spots of wildlife activity.

The field trip was split into 2 days due to occupancy limits, with the first group including: Jan Lightfoot, Truman Holtzclaw, Evan Wong, Charlie Willard, and Gary Ritchie. The second group included: Laura Munro, Leonard James, Jorge Gaj, and Heather Cline.

Both groups had a great time and saw a good variety of wildlife.

"It was fun, informative, and we got many great opportunities for great wildlife shots. The weather was pleasant and the it was a great group of photographers. I highly recommend the guide. He was extremely knowledgeable of the river, its wild residents, and was very good at putting us in good shooting angles. He was very pleasant as well. All in all, a great evening." - Charlie Willard

"Just being out on the river was so nice! The company was great, we saw a lot of different animals." - Jan Lightfoot

Despite the weather heating up in late June, the temperature on the water was very pleasant and the mosquitos kindly left us alone. The watercraft was simple but comfortable and provided an exceptionally smooth ride. There was ample room for all the participants to swivel for various shots across the water and up in the sky.

One of the highlights of the trip was watching a large group of Common Nighthawks fly overhead for their evening feeding just before heading back to shore.
